The term "green library" is a very new view that is still evolving. It is gaining popularity among scholars, academicians, and library professionals all around the world as a growing view. The amount of information about 'Green Library' and 'Sustainability' is limited, but it is increasing.

E – Waste Management

E – Waste Management includes the following activities

- Collection of E-Waste
- Sorting of E-Waste
- Processing of E-Waste
- Repairing of E-Waste
- Recycling
- Dismantling
- Component Recovery from E-Waste
- Residual Disposal of E-Waste

The diagram shows a circular flow of E-waste management. It starts with a house and a person, leading to a collection truck. The waste is then sorted into different categories, processed in a factory, repaired, recycled, dismantled, and finally disposed of in a landfill. The process is shown as a continuous cycle.

Exhibition encouraged the users to enjoy participation in book selection for library. They also enjoyed the habit of reading and the cultivation of literacy. Number of books dedicated to and books written by Bharatratna Dr. Abdul Kalam were displayed separately.

Program Outcome:

1. Program gives the spark to library to attract student towards reading material.
2. It also offer chance to students and faculties to participate in the procurement process of
3. Students and staff have got a chance of comparing books of different writers published by different publishers.
4. Many faculties and students have promoted to purchase books for their personal library.
5. Discussion about books and authors with their peers made their purchase valuable.
6. Library users became aware with the new arrivals of different publishers in their respective subjects.
7. Library has purchased the books with user participation on various streams and subjects or worth Rs.2,30,000/- through this book exhibition.

II) Index Reading of Displayed Books:

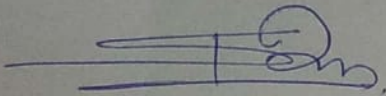

Dr. Babasaheb Sangle had delivered the valuable words about the advantages of reading and focused on importance of celebration of 'Vachan Prerna Divas'.

All library visitors offered salute and take inspiration of reading before the portrait of Dr. Abdul Kalam, best reader of library, lover of books and students. Everyone felt proud to participate in book exhibition,

To carry out the reading on "Vachan Prerna Divas", this year we selected the theme 'Index Reading' of displayed books. We thought it will be very useful to understand the content and compare the variety of books of same title. Comparison of books of same title was necessary thing. Student who visited the book exhibition, their teachers had directed them to read the index of each book which had to suggest for library.

Program Outcome:

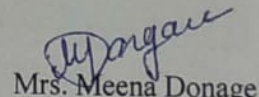

- 1) It gives the student chance to know the book all thoroughly.
- 2) Every book got chance to get read by its user and third laws of S.R. Rangnathan "Every Book should have its user".
- 3) Students also became aware with the indexing services based on this principle.
- 4) Books of same title get compared for proper collection development.
