

Mentoring Cell

Mentoring is a process, an attempt to guard the tender age of the student.

Process of Mentoring Cell:-

PCCCS has designed a system – where each full time faculty as a mentor is allotted students as a mentee.

Before the actual process initiates, mentoring orientation is scheduled and conducted. It is orientation, where the new recruits are trained and the existing ones are updated with up gradations.

After the orientation, the mentors get the basic information form filled by their respective Mentees. Post data collection and its analysis, the mentor schedules individual interactions with their mentees to explore their personalities.

The reporting of the same is executed at predetermined intervals and the few cases which

Require customized special attention are referred to Dr.Madhuri Nikam (the Professional Career Psychologist)

At times, there are cases where the mentee has to problem to suffice together the studies

And financial strain, then the mentee is advised to avail the University Earn and Learn

Scheme. There had been also live illustrations where the problem of particular mentee has

Been discussed at Mentor peer level and is financially supported to incessantly continue the education.
