1. Introduction

1.1. Research Library Literacy

For most extreme use of these assets in showing learning and examination, the Information Literacy is the need of the hour. It makes the end clients skilled enough for recovering exact and significant data according to their need. In this way notwithstanding the conventional library assets and administrations, today, data proficiency is fundamental to teach the clients regarding how to decide his/her data need; what are the different data sources, their inclusion and highlights; how to figure out important and exact data from different electronic data sources; what are the web looking through methods; how to assess and lay out the credibility and dependability of data recovered from public space; what are the morals and legalities in utilizing electronic data sources; how to make appropriate bibliographic references and so on.

With the World Wide Web, understudies approach data that has not been exposed to the typical choice models of the college library. Before such issues become overpowering, data proficiency requirements to turn into a focal piece of the advanced education educational program.

4. Scope of Research

- New research: Research projects to enhance the conditions for new faculty members who have joined the university in the past two years.
- Basic research: Research projects to support a faculty member's basic creative research.
- College-University-Industry Tie-ups: Research projects to support faculty members who wish to draw on and utilize outstanding research skills through joint projects with industries.

5. Code of Ethics in Research

Code of ethics in research involves the application of fundamental ethical principles to be followed in research activities, including scientific research. Research, education and extension are integral parts of any higher education institute. The reputation of institution depends on quality of research and education. NAAC gives substantial weightage to quality and quantity of research undertaken by faculty and students of the Institute. UGC as well as Savitribai Phule Pune University expect certain ethics followed by institution in their research activities. To fulfill these expectations Pratibha College of Commerce and Computer Studies, Chinchwad with deliberation with researchers and worldwide ethics followed has formulated certain code of ethics for research in the college. These codes are Responsibilities of a Research Investigator: A research investigator or guide must not only put together the research students but also try to assemble an adequate financial and administrative structure to support the research. A supervisor not only provides guidance and advice to individual students in the research but also make them aware of responsibility for the scientific integrity of the whole research activity.

Data and report: Research guide should take all reasonable steps to check the details of experimental procedures and the validity and authenticity of the data or observations reported by research scholars, including periodic reviews of primary and secondary data as well as reports prepared by scholars. The report of research outcome must be based on accurately recorded data or observations. It will be considered as a breach of research integrity if the reported data fail to support the reported conclusions. The data must be authentic and be based on outcome of original activities of researcher and not from other sources. Any intentional or reckless disregard for the truth in reporting observations may be considered to be an act of research misconduct.

Ethical policy of UGC on dissection of animals: Every researcher must follow ethical policy on animal dissection given by UGC. Originality and acknowledgement of sources: The research work that must be original and come from research outcome of researchers. If help is taken from other sources, should be acknowledged properly.

Duplication of Publication: Research articles must be published in UGC notified journals. Researchers should not publish the same research outcome in two different places. If published very good reason must be given and appropriate citation must be made in the later publication to the earlier one and if required, the editor must be explicitly informed.

Disclosure and conflicts of interest: Researchers may use Institution resources such as staff, equipment, information or confidential information with prior permission of Principal or head of the department. Researchers may not use Institution resources for any purpose other than purposes related to teaching, research or service by the Institution, unless prior permission has been obtained by the head of the department and/or the Principal.
